FIRST REGIMENT CALLED; READY TO MOVE BY NIGHT

Enrollment More Than 1000 Men, Equipped for Immediate Service as Result of Duty at Mexican Border Last Summer—Recruiting for 800 More Men Will Be Pushed to Bring Command Up to War Strength.

The First Missouri Infantry at St. Louis and the Third Missouri Infantry at Kansas City were called into the Federal service this morning. Immediately the members began assembling at their armories.

Lieutenant-Colonel Leroy K. Robbins, commanding the First Regiment in the absence of Col. Arthur B. Donnelly, who is on detached service as Adjutant-General of Missouri, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that the regiment would be mobilized at the armory by nightfall, ready to respond to any order.

Col. Robbins announced that the First Regiment enrollment exceeded 1000 men, and that the organization was fully equipped for immediate field service as a result of training when on duty at the Mexican border last summer.

Tools for Federal League Park. Gas ranges for preparing the regiment's supper were installed during the afternoon in the armory, and Col. Robbins, by telephone, requested Gen. Clark to supply a quantity of tents, to provide sleeping quarters for the overflow in the Federal League baseball park, Grand and Locust avenues, which adjoins the armory.

Col. Robbins said the men's equipment is adequate, save shoes. The foot-wear issued to them by the Government last year at Nevada was through the encampment at Laredo and suffered much wear and tear. In all other respects of efficiency, Col. Robbins said that the regiment "is ready for the gun."

The order calling out the two Missouri regiments was issued by the War Department at the same time that it called out 18 other regiments from Middle Western states. The War Department's call was sent to Brigadier-General Harvey C. Clark, at Nevada, Mo., commanding the Missouri troops.

Gen. Clark, in turn, notified Col. Robbins and also the commanding officer of the Third Regiment at Kansas City. Col. Robbins telephoned the three Major and the Adjutant of the regiment, and they, in turn, telephoned to the Captains, instructing them to have their companies assemble immediately.

Col. Robbins said the men were called from the barracks to the armory, and they, in turn, notified sergeants. Each sergeant passed the word to the corporals under his supervision, and each corporal passed the word to the privates in his squad. In this systematic manner the word of the call was passed quickly to the entire regiment.

Col. Robbins said he had no orders except to mobilize at the armory. Through his adjutant he let it be known that the recruiting for the regiment, which started at downtown stations last week, would be pushed more diligently in an effort to enlist about 800 more men to bring the regiment to a full war strength of 1800 men.

Press dispatches from Washington having stated that the militia regiments were called out for the protection of property, public buildings and factories in the event of possible internal disorder, officers of the First Regiment surmised that they would be assigned to guard munitions factories, bridges, railroad terminals, Government property, public buildings and factories capable of supplying the Government with materials needed for war purposes. Such assignment, they thought, might be limited entirely to the St. Louis industrial district.

Officers said the majority of the men were eager for active service, and the smiles on the faces of the men, as they assembled during the day at the armory in response to the call, attested this. Protection of munitions factories, bridges and railroad terminals and public buildings heretofore has been limited to private guards employed by the companies interested, but working under the direction of agents of the Department of Justice, about 15 of whom have been here for several weeks. It is understood that this guard will be supplemented by the State troops.

Gen. Clark, in response to an inquiry by the Post-Dispatch as to the nature of the service to be performed by the First Regiment, sent from Nevada this telegram:

"Only troops called are the First and the Third Regiments. Probable that these regiments will be held at home station for the present to protect postal, commercial and military channels and instrumentalities from possible interference. No other troops have been specially ordered to be in readiness, but all are ready and can be mobilized within six hours if called."

Belgian Truce to Elulit. Renewed activity in recruiting during the morning followed the announcement that the First Regiment had been called into service.

VOTERS HAVE 2 MORE DAYS TO TRANSFER REGISTRATION

Wednesday Is Set Aside for Absentee and Invalid Persons to Put Names on Books.

Voters who have moved since the latest registration, Feb. 15, have only two more days in which to have their names transferred. The Election Commissioners' offices will remain open tomorrow night and Wednesday night until 10 o'clock. Transfers can be made today until 5 p. m.

Wednesday has been set aside for the registration of absentee and invalid voters. Those seeking to register must present their own and the affidavit of two registered voters of their respective precincts that they were more than 20 miles from St. Louis on registration day. A voter wishing to register as an invalid must make oath that he was too sick on that date to go to the registration office and must have a sworn statement from his physician to the same effect.

EFFORTS TO BRING SUNDAY HERE WILL BE CONTINUED

Committee Informed That Conditions Which Caused Withdrawal of Address Have Changed.

Following a reading and discussion of the report of the Billy Sunday Committee of the Evangelical Alliance, in the public library today, the ministers passed a resolution authorizing it to pursue its efforts to bring the evangelist here.

The Rev. J. Layton Maize, chairman, read the report, detailing events up to the setting of Feb. 24, 1915, as the date on which Sunday would begin evangelistic service here, and his subsequent withdrawal of the date.

The report stated Sunday did not cancel the date, but withdrew it. The committee said it was persuaded Sunday was willing to come to St. Louis when conditions should be right. According to the report, Sunday was led to believe St. Louis churches were not sufficiently united and enthusiastic, and that the attitude of controlling business here was such as to preclude effective approach to different industrial groups of the community, and that therefore St. Louis was not ready for him. He wrote canceling the date until conditions became more favorable.

In the discussion that followed it developed that the giving of a 100,000 majority against prohibition here and the signing of a document by bankers indicating their opposition to prohibition were among the reasons for Sunday's not coming at this time. The Rev. John L. Brandt told the committee they could now report to Sunday that bankers and business men of the city had had a change of heart on this subject. Bishop William A. Quayle then preached a sermon for the alliance.

One applicant, John C. Ebersson of 428 Evans avenue, asked to get a transfer from the Second Kansas Regiment, of which he is a member. He was told this could not be done.

At the substitution, 618 Olive street, 15 applicants appeared, and were sent to the Locust street office for medical examination. At another substitution, 302 North Sixth street, 12 applicants were all rejected.

Men of First Missouri Spent Two Months on Mexican Border. The First Missouri Infantry, with all other units of the Missouri brigade, was called out last June for mobilization on the Mexican border. The First Regiment left St. Louis June 26, with 1067 men, and remained at the State encampment grounds at Nevada until July 1, when it started for Laredo, Tex. It remained until Sept. 2, then returned to Nevada, and arrived in St. Louis, Sept. 25, with 1033 members.

The slight reduction in number was due to discharges of men with families, which somewhat exceeded the number added by recruiting. Only one man lost his life during the regiment's absence, he being killed by lightning.

FRENCH CONTINUE ADVANCE IN REGION SOUTH OF THE OISE

German Attacks on Captured Positions Between the Somme and the Oise Repulsed.

NEARING ST. QUENTIN

French Also Progress 10 Miles North of Soissons; Air Attack on Calais.

PARIS, March 26.—Notwithstanding the bad weather and the difficult state of the ground, the French continued last night to advance south of the Oise. The War Office announced that French patrols reached Folembray, south of the forest of Coucy.

The Germans made heavy and useless sacrifices, the statement says, in several attacks yesterday on positions captured by the French between the Somme and Oise. Whenever they approached a French position they were thrown back by counter attacks.

The French have been pushing forward steadily, taking all precautions that the nature of the operations call for and in the face of desperate resistance by the Germans. The advance is necessarily slow owing to the character of the ground.

Position of St. Quentin. St. Quentin is protected on the north by the Oise river, which, although only a brook, like most of the Somme tributaries, runs through a broad valley full of swamps and clumps of trees, which greatly increases its defensive value. To the west the approaches to the city are over a bare, flat plain devoid of any natural obstacle and with only a few villages. Here the French advance is naturally most rapid, but the plain narrows and ends in a sharp point at St. Quentin.

At Savy, the most favorable point, the Germans have built their main defensive line. German right runs from the Oise river at Vermand to the Helonne Wood and then to the Somme. Against these two sections the French have so far made little headway, but on the German left they have carried a strong key position on the plateau of Essigny and Benay. This section, extending from the Somme north of Soran-court to the Oise at Vandeuville, runs through gently undulating country which offers admirable fields of fire to the defender.

The center region is a wide hill, 300 feet high, on which stands the village of Essigny. It is flanked on the south by a similar eminence near Henchy, and definite loss of this strong position. French military critics claim, would force the whole German army back on the Oise from St. Quentin to the south, and imperil the rest of the line as far as the Oise. It is considered certain here that the Germans will make determined efforts to regain their position.

The French also made an impression Sunday on a bulge in the line formed by the lower Coucy Forest. Troops which crossed the Ailette and attacked the German position at the village of Folembray, on the plateau of Folembray, Coucy-Le-Chateau (10 miles north of Soissons). German troops on the march in the direction of Folembray were caught under the furious fire of our batteries and dispersed with heavy losses.

"North of Soissons we increased our gains and repulsed two counter attacks directed against Vregny-Margival front. Active artillery fighting on both sides took place in the region of Craonne (northeast of Soissons)."

The afternoon statement said: "During the night, we made further progress north of Grand Seracourt in the direction of St. Quentin."

"Between the Somme and the Oise the night was relatively calm. Prisoners taken by us yesterday belong to seven different regiments."

Progress Toward St. Quentin. "On the east bank of the Ailette we advanced south of Chauny and consolidated our positions, as we did also in the region north of Soissons."

"West of the Meuse we executed a surprise attack and captured elements of enemy trenches east of the Malancourt wood."

"German aviators dropped numerous bombs yesterday on Calais and Dunkirk. In Dunkirk there were neither casualties nor property damage. In Calais two civilians were killed and one civilian was wounded."

The communication from British headquarters reported no considerable activity aside from that in the air. Eight German aircraft were shot down.

MRS. NOLKER ON STAND; TELLS OF MARITAL TROUBLES

Testifies Husband Wouldn't Stay at Home at Night; Wished He Was Bachelor Again.

DESCRIBES TRIPS ABROAD

Denies She Called Husband "Dutch Boob;" Referred to Lawyer as "Drunken Bum."

Mrs. Pearl Elizabeth Hyman Nolker, undergoing the ordeal of a long examination in Judge Cave's court today as defendant in Robert E. Nolker's famous divorce suit, told of her honeymoon and her married life and denied that she ever called her husband a "Dutch boob," as he alleged in his petition. "I never called him a boob," she said. "It wasn't the vague use of such language."

Later in the hearing Mrs. Nolker testified that she called Attorney George D. Little, associated with Bram Frumberg for her husband, "a drunken bum," and had accused him of "double-crossing."

She denied she had ever been unfriendly with Guido Riccardi, an Italian opera singer, or Constantino Vinceto Riccardi, an Italian lawyer. She sarcastically referred to Riccardi as having an office "out on Dago Hill, or somewhere."

Dressed in Black. She made a neat but quiet appearance in a black silk gown with a medium short skirt, a black turban and low-cut gloves. She wore a string of beads around her neck.

She was first introduced to Riccardi by Charlie van Studdiford, she said. "Charlie called me on the telephone and told me he had been in the Hotel Jefferson at dinner party the night before. He asked me to meet him the next day as he had something very important to tell me. I met him at Jacard's jewelry store and he introduced me to Mr. Riccardi."

"Did you ever see Riccardi as your attorney?" she was asked. "Not exactly," she replied. "My father had been investigating."

Before Mrs. Nolker could answer this question Nolker's attorney, A. M. Frumberg made an objection. "They ought to investigate you," said Mrs. Nolker, showing the first flash of emotion since she came into the courtroom. "Well, you are being investigated now," retorted Frumberg.

Met Riccardi Later. Judge Cave cautioned Frumberg, who took his seat, remarking: "Well, I've been here 17 years."

Mrs. Nolker said she next met Riccardi in his office, but did not then actually engage him but later he went to her apartment where he met her father and mother and they discussed from Washington.

"Did you see him again," she was asked. "Yes," she said, "he sometimes came to my home. He didn't come often and he didn't always get in. He came one Sunday for dinner. After dinner he went to his office on Dago Hill or somewhere. He said he lived at the Buckingham."

"What did he say about Mr. Nolker," she said he had something on him. "He denied Riccardi ever put his arms around her in the pantry and that he never went wine to her."

Asked if Riccardi had taken other lawyers to visit her at her home, she said he had a Judge McIntyre and George D. Little.

"The same George D. Little who is one of Nolker's attorneys?" "The same one."

Asked about Little's visit to her after his introduction by Riccardi, she said: "Mr. Little telephoned me many times. He said he had something important. I permitted him to come out and see me. He came, and when I entered the room he was in a chair and was intoxicated. He said he had a letter which he wanted to sell to me for $300."

Called Lawyer "Drunken Bum." Mrs. Nolker was not permitted to testify as to who was supposed to have written the letter. She was given to understand it would aid her in contesting the divorce suit.

"Little continued to pester me," she said, "and I called him a drunken bum. He double-crossed. Here an objection was made and she was not permitted to finish the sentence."

After testifying that she never called Nolker a "boob" she was asked if she ever called him a "flat-headed Dutchman."

"Not to my knowledge," she replied. "I sometimes tried to use stern language with him."

Mrs. Nolker denied that she wept, at least from sorrow, when on her honeymoon journey to Europe, as Nolker had testified. She may have shed some tears, she said, as her wedding had been attended with "considerable confusion and excitement." She also explained that she was a trifle seasick on the way over and was further worried by the fact that Nolker was threatened with pneumonia when they reached Paris.

Tells of Operation. She denied emphatically that the sort of an operation described by Nolker in his testimony was performed on her in Berlin, or anywhere else. "I was ill and there was a whole lot of the matter."

20 MORE MILITIA REGIMENTS CALLED FOR POLICE DUTY

More Than 30 Units Now Have Been Ordered Into Federal Service to Protect Property.

PRESIDENT ORDERS 20,000 MEN ADDED TO NAVY

Executive Authorizes an Enlisted Strength of 87,000—Two New Departments to Be Created on Atlantic Coast and Gen. Wood Will Be Transferred to Charleston, S. C.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Twenty additional complete infantry regiments, including the First and Third Missouri, and five additional separate battalions of national guard troops have been ordered into the Federal service for the protection of property in the event of possible internal disorder. The troops have been called out in 18 Western and Middle Western states not included in the list of similar orders made public yesterday, which called out 12 regiments.

Other orders issued yesterday by President Wilson to put the nation on a war footing were those authorizing the increase of the authorized strength of the navy to 87,000 enlisted men and to provide for the creation of May 1 of two new military departments on the Atlantic Coast.

List of Regiments Called Out. The War Department today issued the following statement: "Following additional national guard organizations have been called into the Federal service for general purposes of police protection against possible interference with the postal, commercial and military channels and instrumentalities."

"Illinois, First, Fifth and Sixth regiments; Indiana, Second Regiment Infantry; Iowa, First Regiment Infantry; Missouri, First and Third Regiments Infantry; Minnesota, First Regiment Infantry; Michigan, First, Third and Fourth Regiments Infantry; Wisconsin, Third Regiment Infantry; South Dakota, Third Battalion of Fourth Regiment Infantry; North Dakota, Second Battalion of First Regiment Infantry; Colorado, First and Second Separate Battalions Infantry; Wyoming, Second Separate Battalion Infantry; Ohio, Third and Sixth Regiments Infantry; Washington, Second Regiment Infantry; Oregon, Third Regiment Infantry; California, Second, Fifth and Seventh Regiments Infantry; Idaho, Second Regiment Infantry; Montana, Second Regiment Infantry."

"Of these organizations the following are already in the Federal service and in consequence will not be mustered out as originally planned: Michigan, Thirty-third Infantry; Ohio, First and Second Separate Battalions; Ohio, Third and Sixth Regiments."

"It is requested that no details of locality be carried in the press with regard to further distribution of these troops unless given out by the War Department."

The new order makes a total of 23 national guard infantry regiments called into the Federal service for police purposes, supplemented by six separate battalions and several detached companies. They will be assigned to posts in connection with their police work by the commanders of the military departments acting under instructions from the War Department.

About 20,000 men will have to be enrolled at once in order to bring the navy up to required strength. The men will be used to man the reserve ships. The creation of the new military departments was ordered as a means of avoiding the immense responsibility now developing upon the commander and staff of the Eastern Department.

Gen. Wood Transferred. Major-General Leonard Wood, now in command of the Department of the East, is transferred to the newly created Southeastern Department with headquarters at Charleston, S. C., and Major-General J. Franklin Bell, in command of the Western Department, is transferred to the Eastern Department with headquarters at Boston. Major-General Barry and Pershing will remain on the staff of the Central and Southern Departments respectively.

In announcing the calling out of national guard regiments the War Department issued a statement yesterday saying: "Many states have deemed it advisable to call out the national guard for police purposes of protection. As the necessity for such steps arises from issues which are more national than local, it has been deemed advisable by the President to call into Federal service for the above mentioned purpose the following organizations of the national guard: Massachusetts, Second and Ninth Regiments; Pennsylvania, First and Third Regiments; Maryland, Fourth Separate Battalion; Virginia, Second Regiment; Vermont, B Company, First Regiment; Connecticut, First Regiment; New York, Second and Seventy-first Regiments; New Jersey, First and Fifth Regiments; Delaware, First Battalion, First Regiment."

"The following organizations which are now in the Federal service will not be mustered out: Thirtieth Pennsylvania, A and B Companies of the First Georgia."

Navy Will Have 87,000 Men. Following is the executive order bringing the navy up to war strength in 1917. "By virtue of the authority vested in the President by the act of Congress approved Aug. 23, 1916, entitled 'An act making appropriations for the naval service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, and for other purposes,' it is hereby directed that the authorized enlisted strength of the navy be increased to 87,000 men."

"WOODROW WILSON." Secretary Daniels sent personal telegrams to newspaper editors all over the country, urging them to aid the department in every way in their power to obtain the men.

The object of the creation of the new army departments of the Northeast and Southeast was to distribute among three central commanders the work of mobilization in the states most thickly populated and from which the greatest number of soldiers must come. The present Eastern department directed the mobilization of approximately 80 per cent of the 130,000 guardsmen sent to the border. With 400,000 men, the maximum authorized strength of the national guard, called out in addition to whatever volunteers might be summoned, the task would be too great for a single departmental organization because of the vastness of the supply problems involved.

Indications are that the administration plans to await action by Congress before further warlike preparations are ordered. President Wilson has authority to direct that the regular army be brought up to full war strength at once and also to call out the remainder of the National Guard and the naval militia.

At the Navy Department it was learned that Congress would be requested to authorize an increase beyond the 87,000 war strength limit for enlisted personnel now set. The organization of great fleets of submarine chasers will make necessary the enlistment of many thousands more men than planned for when the present act was framed. Every fighting ship now in the service or soon to be completed, could be manned with the 87,000 sailors, but there would not be a sufficient margin to allow for the many necessary auxiliaries as well.

GERMAN CAMPAIGN AGAINST RUSSIAN CAPITAL EXPECTED

Announcement of Hindenburg's Indicated Plan Made by Minister of War at Petrograd.

IT CAUSES LITTLE ALARM

People Said to Have Confidence in Ability of the Army to Defend City.

PETROGRAD, March 25.—After the discharge of four gas waves, the Germans yesterday attempted to make an advance near Pustovo, on the northern coast of the Russian front below Dvinsk. The War Office announced that the Germans were repelled.

PETROGRAD, Sunday, March 25.—The news that Field Marshal von Hindenburg was planning a campaign against Petrograd was received at the capital with surprisingly little consternation, evoking rather a spirit of calm confidence in the loyalty of the troops, and the ability of the army to protect the city from the new danger. If German calculations are based upon the supposed demoralization of the soldiers, and the ability of the army to protect the city from the new danger, the calculations are plainly in error.

It is undeniable that during the first days following the revolution the extreme radical and Socialist element aimed at taking advantage of the overthrow of authority by sowing further discontent among the workmen and soldiers.

Danger Quickly Suppressed.
The cloudy state of mind of the peasant population, which, bewildered by the new vista of freedom and equality, and having had little experience with liberty of any sort, imagined that it meant relaxation of every kind of authority and discipline, made the propaganda of the agitators easy at first. But prompt measures taken by the Government and Duma delegations remedied whatever danger lay in that direction.

Telegrams have been received from every portion of the front affirming that the army can be relied upon to do its utmost to defend the country. M. Rodzinko, President of the Duma, received a delegation from the army, which declared: "All officers and soldiers will defend the Duma to the last drop of their blood. They will faithfully obey the provisional Government and will strike the Germans to the last man."

Freedom from the censorship already has had a salutary effect in permitting the truth to be published about the new danger of a German attack without the usual accompaniment of extravagant rumors which in the past made news more alarming than the truth itself.

The result is that, without minimizing the danger to the country, the press has accepted the declaration of the Minister of War quietly and without alarm. The Reichswehr, accordingly, is not the people who are fighting the enemy and not the Government. Therefore, we say definitely and clearly that danger is threatening our northern front. The enemy is preparing to crush our valiant army which for two years has defended the roads to Petrograd. The Russian soldier understands better than ever before the importance of still resisting.

The Russian Volsa says:
"Russia is on trial. Von Hindenburg will try to realize his old dream of a move upon Petrograd. The army and people are facing a test which will become historical. Results can only come from an honest desire to atone for the Russian people for victory."

London Gets Disquieting Reports on Russian Internal Conditions.
LONDON, March 25.—Special dispatches from Petrograd, dated Friday, emphasize the seriousness of the situation arising from the German concentration in the Riga-Dvinsk front, with the apparent certain intention of attempting to break through to a strategic position. It is conjectured that the shortening of the German front in France is part of a plan to overwhelm Russia by a sudden and tremendous blow before the country can recover from the unsettling effects of the revolution.

According to the accounts of correspondents, internal conditions in Russia, notwithstanding the determination of the Government and responsible leaders to conduct the war with energy, are disquieting. The dispatches say time is needed to restore the discipline of the army and navy after the recent upheaval, and they record incidents which are hindering progress in this direction. Among these is the movement of extremists to put the final overthrow of the Romanoffs, the bureaucrats and ruling classes in the forefront of all national efforts.

This movement is indicated by the appearance in the Socialist newspaper Pravda of a resolution of the Social Democratic party's Central Committee inviting the soldiers to leave the trenches and go over to the Germans. It is asserted that this step would immediately evoke a fraternal response among the Germans, and the war would promptly collapse, enabling the army and people to co-operate.

Some soldiers in Petrograd are said to have spent days wrangling over the wonderful promises held forth by the Socialist propaganda and to have stopped thinking about the war, which they believe to be over.

Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolaevich has been permitted to reside at Livadia. Between 300 and 400 arrests have been made in Petrograd since the first day of the revolution, a Reuters dispatch says, among the latest prisoners being

German Retirement Is No Surprise to the Allies

Outcome of Last Year's Fighting

By E. ASHMEAD BARTLETT, Foremost British War Correspondent and Recently Representing the English Press on the Western Front.

LONDON, March 25.—The dramatic retirement of the German armies from the line of the Somme to the so-called Hindenburg line has come as little or no surprise to the allies. It is merely the logical outcome of the last year's fighting. Haig and Nivelle are now reaping the harvest that was sown last summer.

At the end of November last year, the Germans were in a desperate position. Their losses were enormous, their men were demoralized by constant fighting without any real rest, their artillery was completely out of action, and they had lost the command of the air. The French retook the lost ground at Verdun almost without resistance, and the German army was practically without firing a shot. The Germans had counted on Verdun as a rest sector and sent demoralized troops there from the Somme to recuperate.

Could the clock of time have been put back for two or three days at the end of last November, there would have been no "strategic" retreat from the Somme now and the world would have witnessed one of the most overwhelming victories in history. The German general staff could not then have executed this vast retrograde movement in the state their armies were in. But the weather broke, both sides sank deep into the mud, and the enemy gained his much needed respite.

Hung On During Winter.
During the winter he was making a bluff by hanging on to his Somme positions. His lines have been systematically bombarded and his men have been given little rest. The allies plan for a successful offensive this summer have been based all along on the known shortage in the enemy's reserves. Except for the sweepings from the munitions plants and the returned wounded, he has nothing with which to refill his ranks.

His 1916 and 1917 classes were all incorporated into the ranks last August and the vast majority of his 1918 class—mere youths—are now at the front. Had he attempted to fight the issue out on the Somme front, he would have risked a terrible disaster. His retirement now, of course, means gigantic operations for the allies in advancing the front. The German general staff has been forced to make a tactical retreat to a position even after he has taken years to prepare it. The general staff may make what explanations they like. They can call it a masterly retreat to a better battle ground or some hidden move of Hindenburg's genius. These statements cut no ice in the allies' armies. The men know the truth, and so do the soldiers in the enemy's ranks.

This retirement is the first real confession of approaching defeat the enemy has made. He chose his own ground on which to fight and has had two years in which to prepare. He has been driven out of his positions by force, although for the moment he has escaped an almost certain disaster. The shadow of impending ruin is hanging over him unless he retreats to the Rhine in time. The allies are disappointed at his move.

U. S. CONSIDERS DSAVING THE OLD PRUSSIAN TREATIES

Weights Whether They Have Not in Effect Been Abrogated by Germany's "Flagrant Violations of Their Provisions."

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Germany's "flagrant violations" of the treaties of 1864 and 1865, and her "disregard of the canons of international courtesy" were assigned by the United States as reasons for refusal to reaffirm or extend the agreements. The note of refusal to Germany transmitted through Dr. Paul Ritter, the Swiss Minister, was made public today by the State Department and discloses that this Government "is seriously considering" whether Germany's conduct has not in effect abrogated these treaties.

Secretary Lansing's Note.
The American note, signed by Secretary Lansing, follows:
"I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your note of Feb. 15, presenting the proposals of the German Government for an interpretative and supplementary agreement as to article 22 of the treaty of 1864. After due consideration, I have to inform you that the Government of the United States is not disposed to look with favor upon the proposed agreement to alter or supplement the meaning of article 22 of this treaty."

"The position of the Government of the United States, which might, under other conditions, be different, is due to the repeated violations by Germany of the treaties of 1864 and 1865, and the articles of the treaties of 1864 and 1865, revised by the treaty of 1825. It is not necessary to narrate in detail these violations, for the attention of the German Government has been called to the circumstances of each instance of violation, but I may here refer to certain of them briefly and in general terms.

And that in the case of a vessel stopped for articles of contraband, if the master of the vessel stopped will deliver up the goods supposed to be of contraband nature, he shall be allowed to proceed on his voyage."

Two Other Articles Violated.
"In addition to the sinking of American vessels, foreign merchant vessels carrying American citizens and American property have been sunk by German submarines without warning, and without any adequate security for the safety of the persons on board or compensation for the destruction of the property by such action, notwithstanding the solemn engagements of article 13 of the treaty of 1864, that all persons belonging to any vessels of war, public or private who shall be met or insulted in any manner whatever by the vessels or effects of the other party shall be responsible in their persons and property for damages and interests, sufficient security for which shall be given by all commanders of private armed vessels before they are commissioned, and notwithstanding the further stipulation of article 13 of the treaty of 1864 that 'the free intercourse and commerce of the subjects or citizens of

'GREAT DECISION' MUST COME ON THE WEST FRONT

German High Staff Officer Says Colossal Effort There Is Necessary.

By CYRIL BROWN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

BERLIN, March 24. (By wire.)—Tuckerton, N. J., March 25.—That the great decision will be sought and fought on the western front was recently indicated to me by a high staff officer. Military men are satisfied that the general military situation has never been so favorable for Germany as today, and that the great spring campaign, of which the moving tableau of Hindenburg's retirement was only a curtain-raiser, stands in sight.

As a sign of the almost legendary Hindenburg luck, in surveying the general situation, the Teuton critics see a complete collapse of the grand plan of a general allied offensive, frustrated in the west by Hindenburg's retirement and frustrated in the east by the Russian revolution, which, it is held, cannot fail to weaken the striking power of the Russian armies and postpone a serious Russian offensive for weeks, perhaps months.

The general entente offensive is getting on its legs in Macedonia alone, but there is sinking to an incidental episode, since the center of military gravity is the situation in the west.

That the German people are showing no trace of excitement or even a lively interest in transatlantic developments is probably due to the scarcity of American news. The Tageblatt, which is a prodigious compared with its competitors in today's big Sunday issue, has five dispatches, totaling 53 lines, of allied and American news, to which it devotes three lines, or 30 words, of editorial comment.

The Tageblatt offers a 70-word dispatch from The Hague, according to which the United Press reports from Washington that war against Germany is certain and that a $5,000,000 credit

SKINKER TO KEEP UP FIGHT ON ROAD BONDS, HE SAYS

Declares He Will Prevent Sale of $3,000,000 County Issue to Last Minute Possible.

LONG DELAY PROBABLE

Decision by U. S. Supreme Court in His Case Not Expected for Two or Three Years.

Thomas K. Skinner, 71 years old, a lawyer in the Pierce Building, who resides at 644 Ellenwood avenue, St. Louis County, the sole opponent of the $3,000,000 St. Louis county bond issue who has come forward since the bonds were voted by an overwhelming majority of 6 to 1, declared to a Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday his intention to keep the bond issue tied up in the courts to the last moment possible. He insists he is performing a public service.

Good roads advocates in the county admit that the result of his litigation will be to delay for years the expenditure of the bond issue money on roads much in need of permanent repair.

Skinner's fight was entered in the United States Supreme Court, on his appeal from a decision of the United States District Court here, which, like the Missouri Supreme Court, has held that the bond issue is constitutional. He believes it may be two or three years before a decision is reached in the United States Supreme Court.

Explains His Attitude.

Skinner declares he is in the litigation to stay until the United States Supreme Court says he is right or wrong. His contest is mostly for the public good, he says, and which ever way the Supreme Court decides it he thinks he will be entitled to the thanks of the public. If the bonds are held to be valid the county will be able to get better prices for them than it could now, he thinks, and if they are declared to be invalid the public will have been saved from purchasing bonds the validity of which might at any time be successfully questioned.

"There certainly is a question of the validity of these bonds," Skinner asserted. "Somebody was sure to raise it some time. I thought it my duty to raise it at the outset and have it settled. The bonds are invalid if the law authorizing them is unconstitutional. I claim that it is unconstitutional in that it denies to property owners in incorporated towns equal protection as incorporated towns equal protection as incorporated towns and the residents of rural communities."

"Property owners of incorporated towns were led to believe that part of the money from the bond issue would be used to improve the portions of the county roads within the incorporated towns, and many voted for the bond issue in that understanding. They were deceived. The money cannot be used for that purpose. Therefore they do not have the equal protection of the law. If they had known the truth many of them would have voted against the bond issue."

"It might be that the question of the validity of the bonds never would be raised in St. Louis County, but if it were to be raised in any county in the State, St. Louis County would be affected."

Road Bonds a Craze, He Says.

"The people are running crazy on bond issues. Between Feb. 15 and May 20 of last year Missouri counties voted $5,000,000 of bonds in aid of county roads. Deplorable results may arise from such imprudent action. I have made a study of the bond question for 20 years, and for 44 years a considerable part of my law practice has been in bond cases. I asked myself if I had any public duty to perform. I said to myself: Shall I still or shall I do my full duty to the State and the courts of which I am a sworn member? I knew the defects in these things. I thought it over long and hard. I was not unmindful of my personal interests as a taxpayer, but that had been all I don't think I would not have entered. Some say that I have acted officiously. I don't think so. I am merely performing my duty of a good citizen."

"My tax may be $25 a year under the bond issue. I have already spent that much in opposing it and it is only because my printing bills have amounted to $125. Except for a voluntary subscription from one man I am paying all the expenses of the litigation myself. It may be two or three years before a decision is reached in the United States Supreme Court. I have a right to maintain the suit and, by Jack, I'm going to see it through."

Takes Issue With Skinner.

A. C. McKibben, member of the newly created State Highway Commission and one of the leaders in the St. Louis County bond issue campaign, took issue with Skinner's statement that incorporation of the bond issue would not benefit the bond issue.

"Before the bonds were voted," McKibben said, "the Attorney-General's office gave an opinion that the roads which were in existence before a town was incorporated could be improved with funds raised by the sale of county bonds. This was on the theory that the improvement and the fact that an incorporated area was crossed by the road does not relieve the county of either its obligation or its legal right to appropriate money for the improvement of the road."

McKibben said Skinner's fight was tying up movements for good roads bond issues in many counties in Missouri, as these counties had decided to put off such campaigns until the Skinner issue should be settled. Only two counties, Jefferson and Cole, which voted bond issues subsequent to the St. Louis County issue, are proceeding with road improvements by bond issues. They are doing so under a funding plan, which they contend prevents consideration of the constitutionality of the bond issue.

In St. Louis County, McKibben said, the only improvements on roads being made are temporary, and are paid for out of about $75,000 annual revenue for that purpose.

APPLICANTS FILL NEW RECRUITING OFFICES OF NAVY

Many of Them Accompanied by Parents or Other Members of Family.

The new recruiting offices of the United States Navy in the Calumet Building at Seventh and Chestnut streets were crowded with applicants for enlistment this morning, many of the younger men being accompanied by either mother or father and frequently by younger sisters or brothers. This was commented upon by Lieut. E. D. Langworthy, charge of naval recruiting in this district, as being a good sign.

"When they come here with their parents," he said, "it indicates their determination to serve. The recruiting is done in this district, as being a good sign."

"The orders are to get all we can. I have all of Missouri except Kansas City, and Lower or Southern Illinois below the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad."

Asked if he could estimate the number of recruits Missouri or the city of St. Louis is likely to furnish to the total number of 38,000 to be added to the naval strength, Lieut. Langworthy said: "We are a sailor out of every five applicants. During last week we averaged in St. Louis 15 applicants per day. I have no doubt we will make a better average—that it will run to 30 per day—possibly higher during the next few weeks."

Discouraging on the things that stimulate enlistment in the navy, Lieut. Langworthy said: "The call itself, to full war strength, contemplating the possibility of war, is one thing; the probability of advancement or promotion owing to the added naval equipment, with the 10 per cent advance to regular war pay, is another. But when the parents come here with their sons I can see that the spirit of patriotism is at work and will probably answer the demands of the department finally and quicker than any other."

Junior Naval Organization.

The American Junior Naval and Marine Scouts, to be composed of boys from 15 to 18 years old, will be formed under the supervision of the local recruiting office of the United States Marine Corps, at 122 North Seventh street, it was announced there today.

Sergt. F. E. Turin, in charge of the academy, said he would try to get the cooperation of school authorities in enlisting 1000 boys for this form of scout training. Military and naval instruction will be given.

Twelve men applied for enlistment in the Marine Corps this morning.

The Missouri Naval Militia opened a recruiting station at 819 Locust street, in charge of Ensign John Drury and Lieut. Brownlee Fisher. Thirty applicants appeared. Those accepted will take State and Federal enlistment oaths. The organization has 150 men ready for service here, and 50 in Kansas City, the officers said. If called on, the militia will probably go first to the great lakes training station at Chicago.

Oliver Ready to Reorganize Ninth Infantry.

United District Attorney Oliver said today that if President Wilson should call for volunteers he would begin at once reorganizing the Sixth Missouri Infantry, of which he was Colonel in the Spanish-American war. When the Mexican situation was threatening steps were taken toward reorganizing, and 1500 names of former members of the regiment who were ready to enlist were obtained. The names

Secretary Daniels Issues Appeal for Naval Recruits

The following appeal for naval recruits was sent to newspapers throughout the country by Secretary Daniels:

WASHINGTON, March 25. The President last night signed an executive order directing that the authorized enlisted strength of the navy be increased to 37,000. He was authorized by Congress, in case of emergency, to direct such increase in enlistment. New ships and ships in reserve are being fully commissioned as rapidly as possible and the need is imperative for a larger enlistment to man them. There has been a net increase of more than 600 in enlistment since Congress recently authorized an increase, but many more are needed, and needed now.

Will you not emphasize this need by giving special editorial prominence to the first page of your paper, to the President's order, and also by making an editorial appeal for new recruits for the navy?

The navy offers exceptional advantages to young men of stuff and ambition to serve in the first line for national defense. In this emergency you have the opportunity and the privilege of performing this public service, and I am confidently appealing to you for your cordial and helpful co-operation.

are now in the possession of Lieut. Col. Mabrink at Caruthersville.

Army Tent Erected on Courthouse Lawn at Recruiting Office.

A regulation army tent, surmounted by flags, standing on the courthouse lawn at the Broadway and Market street corner, struck the eyes of passers-by today. It was a recruiting office, in charge of a Sergeant and two enlisted men.

The appeal of this bit of military realism was shown by the fact that within the first two or three hours six men applied to join the army, and were sent to the old Custom House, Third and Olive streets, for physical examination. The tent, of khaki-colored canvas with a wide aisleway, was trim and comfortable, and included a portable wooden floor.

MAN SAID TO HAVE GIVEN N. Y. TENDERLOIN NAME, DIES

Former Police Inspector Resigned During Graft Inquiry—Wealth Placed at $1,000,000.

NEW YORK, March 25.—New York lost the man who is said to have given "the tenderloin" its name and the Police Department one of its most picturesque characters in the death of former Police Inspector A. S. Williams, known as "the clubber."

Williams, a giant in stature, gained fame and promotion half a century ago by taming some of the most dangerous districts of the city. Then he was shifted to the gay theatrical district. A friend asked how he liked it. "Fine," he said. "I've had chuck steak for years. I'm glad to eat tenderloin." The man who was known as "the clubber" during an investigation of police graft. He was said to be worth a million dollars. He was 77 years old.

TRANSFER OF WOOD CAUSES STIR IN ARMY

Friends Charge It to "Politics" but It Is Said to Be "Step of Military Necessity."

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The order transferring Major-General Leonard Wood from the Eastern Department of the army to the new Southeastern Department, caused a stir in army circles. Friends of the General were inclined to credit it to "politics." A member of the cabinet said, however, that the President and Secretary Baker had decided on the transfer "for the good of the service" and as a "step of wise military necessity."

As a general rule, that department falls to the command of the senior Major-General of the army available for such duty.

Gen. Wood is the ranking officer of his grade. Gen. Bell, who now takes command of the Eastern Department, being his immediate junior.

The Northeastern Department will embrace the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, with headquarters at Boston.

In the Eastern Department will be the states of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia, West Virginia, District of Columbia, the Canal Zone and the Island of Porto Rico, with the islands and kers adjacent thereto, with headquarters at Governor's Island.

Southeastern Department will embrace the states of Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi, together with the coast defenses of New Orleans and the coast defenses of Galveston, with headquarters at Charleston, S. C.

AMERICANISM TO BE PUSHED AS ISSUE IN CITY CAMPAIGN

Connect in Letter Charges Republican Omission of Plank to Catch German Vote.

Democratic and Republican managers began the last week of the municipal campaign today with plans to make the Americanism issue a more prominent feature of the contest between William C. Connett, Democratic candidate for Mayor, and Mayor Kiel, Republican. Connett today sent a letter to Supple Commissioner Joseph B. Thomas, in answer to a letter from Thomas to Connett, in which he criticized the Republican candidates for refusing to insert in their platform a plank indorsing the United States Government in its controversy with Germany. He charged the Republicans, by dodging the Americanism issue, were trying to win the votes of Germans and German sympathizers. Thomas accused Connett of trying to inject racial issues into the campaign.

The Republican City Committee is preparing to put in the street cars an advertisement for Mayor Kiel, containing the assertion that no man who will not stand up for his country is fit to hold office. The Democrats plan to make a concerted attack on Mayor Kiel, containing the assertion that no man who will not stand up for his country is fit to hold office. Says Man He Killed Broke Up Home.

15,000 HOGS ARE RECEIVED

Price Holds Up to Spite of Plentiful Supply.

The restoration of normal shipping conditions resulted today in 15,000 hogs being received at the National Stock yards. This is several thousand more than have been received in one day for several weeks.

Despite the plentiful supply, the price was $15.10 a hundred pounds, which is only 20 cents below the high record. The price is said to be due to anticipation of war orders from this Government.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them, 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, O.

CANNOT WORK OR PLAY
When you are run down in health so that it impairs the efficiency of your work as well as your power to enjoy the pleasures of life it is time that you gave Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial.

The condition that doctors describe as general debility when they describe it at all is outside of the experience of most physicians until the blood has become so impoverished that it can be called anemia. Unless this condition of bloodlessness has been reached you simply complain of failing energy, loss of appetite, constipation, lack of ambition and animation. If you are well-to-do your physician will probably advise a change of climate. If not, he will tell you there is nothing much the matter with you. He means that there is no organic trouble. But the blood is thin and the whole system lacks tone. The blood goes everywhere, practically, and improving the quality of the blood by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, tones up the whole body, improves the appetite, quickens the step and puts a new punch in life generally.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by your own druggist, or will be sent direct by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at fifty cents a box—ADV.

GOVERNMENT WANTS QUICK DELIVERY OF STEEL FOR NAVY

Negotiations With Manufacturers Being Conducted by National Defense Council.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—An agreement with American manufacturers by which an structural steel needed for the navy's building program could be obtained quickly and at a fair price is being sought by Bernard Baruch of the National Defense Council. Baruch recently obtained an agreement with copper producers by which the Government will receive millions of pounds of copper at a fixed price, based on the average quotation for the last 10 years. He will see representatives of the steel makers Wednesday.

Secretary Daniels tomorrow will consult steel companies and other contractors for material used in destroyer construction. With orders out for 24 boats and more contracts to follow immediately, the work must be distributed among material contractors under a plan for speedy delivery and use of all national resources. It is not believed orders for 20 or more submarine chasers can be placed before the end of the week.

AUTO QUEST IN COUNTRY FOR RECRUITS FOR NAVY
Machines Stop at Every Town, Hamlet and Frequently at Farm Houses.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Assurances of the co-operation of the American press generally in the effort to recruit the navy to its full war strength of 57,000 men reached Secretary Daniels today by telegram and telephone from newspapers in all parts of the country.

The department is supplementing its recruiting service with automobile detachments, which are searching every county for suitable men. The machines are stopping in every town, village and hamlet and frequently at individual farmhouses in order not to miss any opportunity to obtain young men who desire to serve in this time of emergency.

RAILROAD TREASURER KILLED DEFENDING WIFE FROM BURGLAR

H. E. Yarnall Dies Soon After Being Shot by Negro in His Philadelphia Home.

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—Howard Ellis Yarnall, secretary and treasurer of the Middle Valley Railroad, died early today from a bullet wound suffered when defending his wife from the attack of a negro burglar at their home here last night. Yarnall was taken to a hospital and an operation was performed. He died three hours later.

Mr. and Mrs. Yarnall had just returned from a day at their country home at Media when she encountered the burglar in her room. She grappled with him and screamed for help. Yarnall hurried to the room and saw the burglar drawing a revolver and fired, the bullet entering Yarnall's groin and penetrating the liver. He continued to struggle with the burglar and succeeded in forcing him backward down the stairway. After firing another shot the burglar escaped through an open window. A handbag containing about $100 cash was taken. Yarnall was 51 years old.

RUSSIAN REVOLT CELEBRATED

NEW YORK, March 26.—Elhu Root's reasons for believing in the permanence of the new popular Government in Russia are expressed in a message read at a mass meeting held last night to celebrate the success of the Russian revolution. The former Secretary of State predicted that the Hohenzollerns and Hapsburgs would follow the Romanoffs.

The admirable self-control exhibited by the leaders of the new Government and their followers inspired confidence, he said, and another reason for belief that the change would last was that it is part of the mighty and, he believed, an irresistible movement of the whole world to substitute democracy for autocracy in human government.

JUST "BECAUSE" we were extremely lucky last week in securing 300 smart Easter Suits at a "price"—AND "BECAUSE" Easter is less than two weeks off—AND "BECAUSE" our customers know that it is our habit to announce something like this about this time—AND "BECAUSE" we never like to disappoint them, it is with more than our usual pleasure that we announce this event.

Who Wouldn't Be Surprised to See at $13.75.

A smart Sport Suit of wool poplin, with rows of buttons on back and a wide sport collar? Or a smart tailored serge or gabardine, in tan, navy, copen or black? Or six or eight different kinds of checks and plaids, worked up in a dozen or more of the smartest kinds of models?

Well, you needn't be surprised when you see these Suits, but you will, because they are far prettier than we can tell you, or than you can imagine.

"The Surprises in the New Spring Suits Cannot Be Numbered"

"There are newnesses to be found every day in the New York markets, because makers and high class designers are continually trying to bring out something new. Some of them are paid as high as $10,000 a year just for this very work—bringing out surprises. We pay a big salary to a buyer for seeking out the new things—originals, which sell at extravagant prices, then having them reproduced, to place before our customers at moderate prices.

COATS

STOMACH SYMPTOMS

A leading physician of Chicago says: "Merely easing the pain with narcotics to give relief is a long way from a cure for stomach trouble. Besides the danger of neglect or inadequate treatment may lead to more serious maladies. What appear to be only minor troubles are often the symptoms of gall stones, acute indigestion, gas, flatulence, constipation, auto-intoxication, yellow jaundice, appendicitis, cancer and ulcers of the stomach and intestines, or other fatal ailments. Stomach sufferers should take warning. Do not have blind faith in treatments that are giving no results. Much suffering could be avoided, many surgical operations prevented, scores of lives saved and many a Wonderful Remedy been taken in time. It is not a long drawn out treatment. It acts on the very source and foundation of stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, eliminating from the system the hard, poisonous material which is the cause of the trouble. It does tonight—tomorrow your days of torture will be over and another happy life is added to nearly a million grateful human beings. Many who declare: 'My Wonderful Remedy has saved my life. I feel I am free from disease today.' Tomorrow may be too late. For sale by Judge & Welch Drug Co., 1001-1003 Olive St. and druggists everywhere.—ADV.

What You Can Have for Nothing.

IF you expend a small amount of effort, and twice the amount of will power, the high cost of living need not trouble you. The Monthly Health Letter of the Life Insurance Institute lists under things you can have for nothing:

It costs nothing to stand erect and breathe properly.

It costs nothing to have fresh air in your home.

It costs nothing to do setting-up exercises every day.

It costs nothing to masticate one's food thoroughly; this insures better digestion, less loss of the expensive, highly flavoured food is consumed; money and health are saved.

It costs nothing to cleanse the teeth thoroughly after each meal. By so doing you may save not only dentists' bills, but surgeons' and doctors' bills.

It costs nothing to eat some crusty foods that give proper employment to the teeth and thus save dentists' bills.

It costs nothing to choose the kinds of foods that the body needs.

It costs nothing to keep out of your body substances, like alcohol, that are known to be injurious.

It costs nothing to adjust your diet so that the more expensive flesh foods are not taken in excess.

It costs nothing to avoid dosing yourself with patent medicines.

It costs nothing to avoid eating, between meals, candy and sweets that are liable to irritate the stomach and otherwise affect the digestion and metabolism.

It costs nothing to feed the mind with wholesome mental food, instead of trash or morbid literature that easily decomposes and poisons your whole life.

Dorothy Dix says

The Wife Who Wants to Be Pals With Her Husband Must Forego the Dear Delight of Calling His Attention to His Faults.

ONE of the tragedies of matrimony is born of the glamor of the sex so often nothing upon which to build a real, enduring friendship. There is no congeniality, no similarity of tastes between the man and the woman who have elected to pass the days not even ride the same hobby, but each bites and kicks and snorts and fr alongside of the other's fad.

It is no wonder that such a couple or else go their lonely way through life, or else that they openly fight, or else in that solitude of two that is the saddest thing on earth.

If you talk to a girl who is romantically in love about being friends with the man she is about to marry, she treats your counsel with cold disdain. Friendship seems as poor a thing to her as if you suggested hydrant water instead of champagne or bread and butter in place of lobster newburg.

You cannot make her believe that the time will ever come when she and her Edwin will cease to thrill at the mere sound of each other's voice or that they will grow weary of asking each other: "Oose ducky is oo?"

Yet this disillusioning happens to every single couple that ever gets married and when it does happen, it is the woman who must save the situation by adapting herself to it and going to work to win her husband's friendship as she won his love.

To do this she must begin with a piece of self-denial, that of constituting herself a critic on the hearth. There is no attitude that a woman likes so well as to assume that of her husband's mentor, but this does not conduce to friendship or confidence.

We only tell our troubles, and the things we really do, to those of our friends who will sympathize with us, and the wife who wants to be pals with her husband must forego the dear delight of censuring him for his shortcomings and calling his attention to his faults. No estrangements between husband and wife are more complete than those which grow out of a man's fear of a woman's tongue.

On the other hand, no bond binds a man so closely to a woman as to feel that no matter how the world may misjudge him and decide him or how bitterly it may criticize him, there is one who will believe in him still and on whose sympathy he may draw as on an inexhaustible bank account.

The next factor in establishing a lasting friendship with a husband is equality. Women are fond of adopting one or two poses before the men they marry.

They like to pretend that they are either helpless babies or pin feathered angels. Now, neither the fool nor the superior attitude goes very far in married life, no matter how effective it was during courtship.

A sensible man gets very tired in a mighty short time of a woman that he has to take care of and think for as if she were an infant, or else who is trying to lecture him up to her level. He neither wants to be upluffed nor to play dolls or to act as nursemaid. What he wants in a wife is a chum—a partner that he can trust with his life, his honor and his pocketbook; somebody who will share his luck and good luck with him with cheerfulness; a woman who will dance with him at a ball, or stand with him back to back and fight with him to the last gasp.

Finally, a woman must establish a community of interest with her husband, for that is the rock bottom foundation on which all lasting friendship lasts. She must turn into his business plans and share his amusements. Few wives do this.

Most women affect asinine stupidity when a man tries to talk to them about his business and yawn in his face, yet nearly all men adore talking shop. A man's store or office is the little world where the drama of his existence works itself out, where his triumphs and failures take place, where his tragedies and comedies work themselves out.

It may mean just as much to him, be just as much an achievement to make a corner in salt codfish as it is to a politician to be elected to office or an author to publish a new book. He simply hurls with longing to pour the tale of his exploits into some sympathetic ear, but how can he do it if his wife turns up her nose at his occupation and declares that she never can understand anything about business?

Moreover, the majority of women forget how to be jolly companions as soon as they are married. When the average man takes his wife out she is such a wet blanket on the occasion, objecting to everything, finding fault with everything, complaining that they can't afford everything, that, as an Irishman might say, the next time he takes her he leaves her at home.

Of course, women will say that their husband's tastes and interests are unbecomingly and uninteresting to them. Nonsense. Precious few of us like caviar to start with, but we keep nibbling on it until we cultivate a taste for it.

Apple Hits.

WELL named is this dessert, for it takes a "hit" with every member of the family. Take Greenings, or other tart cooking apples, pare, and cut them in quarters (or eighths, if large). Stand them symmetrically in a baking dish. Squeeze over them the juice of a lemon and add a part of the rind, grated or sliced thin. Drop in bits of butter—in all a tablespoon—a few cloves, and sugar to taste. Bake and serve either hot or cold.

Not the Same.

THE new Irish maid won't do. "Why not?" "I sent her out for a nut cracker and she brought back a brick."

Buttons Made of Skimmed Milk.

WHEN you examine the buttons on your new coat, don't jump at the conclusion that they are made of bone. They may be made of skimmed milk. An English concern has produced a plastic material, which it calls "ayolite," of which skimmed milk is the foundation. It is used as a substitute for bone, ebony, ivory, and similar materials, and many articles besides buttons are made from it.

An Automatic Typewriter.

OF interest to the stenographer whose work lies in typing many copies of a circular letter, each of which must be an original, is an automatic typewriter which works very much on the basis of a piano, electrically operated. This machine duplicates a letter, not by mimeographing it, but by actual typing it. The original letter is written carefully on a machine which perforates a long roll of manila paper. This roll is then placed in a cabinet beneath a regular typewriter, and a little motor is started. A set of blunt pins is affixed to the shafts of the keys, and through each of the perforations a pin passes, pressing the key needed. The spacing and changes of line are managed in the same way. It is an interesting sight to see this typewriter busily dashing off a letter with no one visibly operating the keys.

Pumpkin Timbale.

TO 1 pint of mashed pumpkin add the yolks of two eggs, well beaten, one teaspoon of salt and a dash of pepper. Mix well, cut and fold in stiffly beaten whites of the two eggs, then fill custard or timbale cups. Stand in a baking pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven 20 minutes, or until firm. When done, turn carefully from the cups and serve at once.

Phil Ball Predicts That Branch Rickey Will Appear in a Spring Suit, Tomorrow

PHIL BALL'S SUIT AGAINST RICEY AGAIN DEFERRED

Long-Distance From Browns' Owner States Action Will Be Taken "Tomorrow."

JINX RIDES JONES' MEN

Six Members of Old Barb Wire's Flock in Poor Shape for Spring Series.

By W. J. O'Connor.

While extensive arrangements are being made for the "Rickey Banquet," which is to be held tonight at the Mercantile Club, where many of the more sanguine followers of Rickey and friends of the Cardinals will foregather to hear the details of the "Cardinal idea," attorneys for Phil Ball are wheeling their big guns into position to begin a legal bombardment.

However, the long-looked-for legal action will not be launched today. A long distance telephone call from President Phil Ball of the Browns, who is in Chicago, announced at noon that action would be deferred for another day at least. All of which proved rather puzzling to the persons on the outside looking in.

Some sort of a legal suit is expected to be filed against Rickey before long. What it will be, no one is willing to say. However, President P. D. Ball is in Chicago today conferring with Ben Johnson and before he left last night he mapped out a campaign.

It was good tactics, local American League followers believe, to delay legal action against Rickey. The famous Rickey banquet tonight is expected to prove the biggest business of the season in this city. Those who will attend and preparations are being made to take care of more than 500 will be the guests of the Organization Committee. W. E. Blumhiser, James C. Jones and J. C. Reid will help Rickey with the vocal pyrotechnics. There will be other attractions in keeping with Mr. Blumhiser's promise to put over the "biggest baseball banquet" St. Louis has ever seen.

No matter what comes of it, interest in the good old pop-eyed pitcher is being fanned by forced draught methods never before at this time of the year.

Using Reverse "English."

And just a word about the spring series. It is the writer's sincere opinion that the Browns will win no fewer than four out of five games from the Cardinals this spring. Our reasons are these:

Bert Shotton has tonsils. Ted Pratt has a lame knee. John Lavan has a broken finger.

Dave Davenport is on crutches. Tim McCabe is just out of hospital. Grover Hartley has a sprained back.

The Browns have had little practice. And the Cardinals are in the proverbial "pink."

Any time a team is completely "shot" and entirely unfit, from all angles in the spring, precisely at this time does it win. We cannot forget last spring. The Browns came home after losing only two days out of 24, in practice at Palestine and elsewhere along the route home. They had been punishing the ball viciously, for the better part of a month, and looked as good as a car load of beef steaks would today in Berlin.

The Cardinals, on the other hand, were turned this spring. And incidentally the Cardinals are under new ownership, just as the Browns were a year ago. So that's why we wish to prepare Jimmie Ball and Branch, and all the others imbued with the Cardinal idea, for a genuine knockout may be their share of the spring series. Indeed, it will be unless all jinx riding fails.

ALL-ST. LOUIS SOCCER TEAM INCLUDES RATIGAN

President Winton Barker of the St. Louis Soccer League announced today that he would do the selecting of the players who will make up the Missouri football Association eleven to make the trip to Sweden this summer in the next few days. Tom Cahill, former St. Louisian, is in the city and with Barker will make final arrangements for the team.

Barker announced this morning that while nothing definite had been done in regard to getting Harry Ratigan, the local boy now with the Bethlehem champions, he would be on hand to join the St. Louisian when the trip is started.

This will assure the team of a good center forward—no better than anything around here.

Cahill, who took the All-America eleven abroad last summer, will be manager of the team.

Professionals Win and Tie.

Professional soccer is still a bit ahead of the municipal brand, as was shown yesterday, when the Innishalls tied with the All-Stars, 1-1, and the Ben Miller trounced the Kean Kutters, 4-0.

The classes proved good drawing cards, the paid admissions being a little over $300. This means that the Municipal Association will get something like $500 for its treasury.

The All-Stars played a tie because they were a better team than the Innishalls. They were first to score, but the Innishalls tied them in the second half.

After the fall of the Innishalls, the big fall of the Kean Kutters was in a game with the Ben Miller. At the time of his injury, the Kean Kutters were leading the Ben Miller, 3-0.

William and Jenkins had Houston to three hits and the White Sox regulars were

Wagner's Shoes Too Big for Recruits; Weak Infield Pirates' Main Problem

Callahan Will Probably Open Season Without a "Regular" on His Inner Line of Defense.

NO. 6—PITTSBURG

By Charles F. Doyle.

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 26.—James

Joseph Callahan, the picturesque adventurer of the baseball world, is confronted with the most perplexing problem of his long and interesting diamond career in his admirable attempt to give the critical Pittsburgh fan first division representation in the National League.

Cal came down into sunny Georgia with almost 40 experienced and "green" exponents of the National sport, and provided he does not find too much Georgia pine for his shoulder, up, he may be able to mold a team that will be worthy of the fast Eastern foot.

Despite the unsettled condition of the Pittsburgh club, the former White Sox leader appears to be well equipped in all departments except the infield. He has the nucleus of a splendid pitching corps in Marmatz, Connors and Miller, and the catching staff composed of Fletcher, Schmidt and Wagner.

Callahan's infield is a puzzle. He has a regular outfielder in the person of Fletcher, who is a regular in the outfield, but he has no regular infielder.

Loss of Siler Hurts.

However, a club with a defective infield from day to day might as well ask for waivers on the flag, and the cause of the restless attitude of leader of the Black Flags, Cal has struggled bravely in the face of the Siler setback, but he can't help but ponder sometimes on what would happen if he had the remarkable boy who clubbed his way to a 200 batting average in his first year in the highest school of baseball.

The first base worry has been alleviated to some extent since Warren Adams, late of the Northern League, took up some residence in Columbus. Adams was secured by the Dodgers last fall, but when they tried to turn him back it was learned that Dreyfuss and Callahan had entered a claim for his services. The youngster is left-handed from soup to nuts and he ought to be proud of his minor league record.

Headline picking the Northern League pitchers to the tune of .32, the wiry fly found time to play on the club with very satisfactory results. He stole 55 bases in a short season, and the question of opening is fast becoming as much concern among managers as correct hitting. Adams is almost certain to be a capable fielder and base runner in the National League. If he does develop a weakness under the strain of the intelligent pitching in the majors, Callahan will have real cause for shooting off cannon crackers on the Fourth of July.

Baird Weak at Bat.

Douglas Baird of St. Charles, Mo., ought to be one of the stars of the circuit, but Dug has not entered the realm.

McGraw's 5-Year $40,000 Contract With Giants Shatters All Records

John McGraw will be the manager of the New York Giants for the next five years. This was made certain when the team signed a five-year document in San Antonio last Saturday night.

The announcement was made by President Humpstead yesterday.

McGraw, it is said, will receive a straight salary of $40,000 a season, the highest ever paid a manager, and also a share in the profits of the club over a certain amount.

McGraw has been manager of the Giants for 14 years and all this time the club has been in the second division only twice, in 1914, when they were fifth, and in 1915, when the club finished last.

Two Indian veterans—Guy Morton and Stanley Cowles—pitched in great form yesterday. Morton pitched a complete game, winning 4-0. He struck out 11 batters and walked 10.

The Tiger regulars moved out the Dallas club of the Texas League, 4-2, yesterday. The Tigers made three hits and the White Sox regulars were

ST. LOUIS BOY WILL BE PIRATE REGULAR

A St. Louis boy, Chuck

Ward, will be a regular with the Pirates when the 1917 season opens. This is certain since Hans Wagner, the veteran shortstop, has failed to report.

Adams, a rookie first sacker, will start as a regular. The probable opening day lineup for the Corsairs:

Adams, 1b; Schulte, 2b; Hinchman, 3b; Ward, 4b; Fletcher, c.

The Pirates' Roster: Pitchers: Marmatz, Cooper, Miller, Hohe, Evans, holdovers; Carlson and Miller, 1b; Fletcher, 2b; Wagner, 3b; Schmidt and Shaw, 4b; Baird, 5b; Ward and Warner, regulars; Gleason and McAuley, substitutes.

Outfielders: Carey, Schulte, Hinchman, regulars; Biebes, King and Altenberg, substitutes.

Rest of the Pittsburgh Makeup, Including Pitching Staff, Seems Fairly Strong.

stuff the tons of Honus Wagner's shoes; but the German can't play the position with legs that have cracked under the strain of stealing 75 bases. Gleason is an aggressive kid from the Eastern League; Carlson, a slickster in the pitching box and his action reminds one of Babe Adams. Catcher Shaw, 21 years old, and built for speed and endurance, torpedoed most of the Kilty League pitchers last year in compiling his .331 batting mark.

The eight pitchers who, the writer believes, will start the season for the Pirates are: Marmatz, Cooper, Miller, Hohe, Evans, holdovers; Carlson and Miller, 1b; Fletcher, 2b; Wagner, 3b; Schmidt and Shaw, 4b; Baird, 5b; Ward and Warner, regulars; Gleason and McAuley, substitutes.

Outfielders: Carey, Schulte, Hinchman, regulars; Biebes, King and Altenberg, substitutes.

stardom yet. The deer-footed boy is just about as clever as "Scoops" Carey in the art of baserunning, but for various reasons his hitting has been disappointing to himself and to his employers. Natural ability is fairly obvious but he is a regular out of the lineup.

Even if Baird and Adams come through with the necessary offense, the other two positions will be in capable hands. "Chuck" Ward of St. Louis has proved to be a whirlwind defensive player in the Pittsburgh outfit. He has graduated takes them off the ground with all the skill of a Hancock or Marvianelli, but he has been a disappointment in the batting line.

Against Sandow, the boy who outpointed Harry Kabbakoff here, Puryear recently gained a draw, the Hot Springs crowd almost mobbing the referee for not giving him victory. Sandow was so badly mauled that he had to withdraw from a bout he had accepted as principal at the Future City show here tomorrow.

FIVE-MAN TEAMS HAVE LAST CHANCE AT A. B. C.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 26.—Play in the five-man event of the American Bowling Congress tournament will conclude today, only 24 clubs remaining on the schedule.

The scheduled match between the Chicago club and the American Bowling Congress team, which was scheduled for 10 o'clock, was postponed until tomorrow.

Rosed also took the leadership in the all-events when, after five consecutive strikes, he missed one pin in his sixth frame.

Satterius and Holtschuh of Penna., with their 1548, are regarded by officials as almost certain to win the title in the two-man event.
